

We are currently recruiting for a Director of Public Affairs. If you or someone you know is interested, please download the recruitment pack to learn more and find out how to apply.

What's Happening at Pro Bono Economics

In the run-up to Christmas, there are lots of exciting PBE events and report launches to tell you about!

Our annual lecture is due to be held on the 28th of March 2018, with David Halpern as the keynote speaker looking at the education sector and cutting-edge approaches to impact management. Please hold this date in your diary.

This follows on from the success of our annual volunteer event, held on the 7th of November at the University of Chicago Booth School of Business. An engaging and celebratory event, this included presentations from City Year and Power to Change on their Pro Bono projects and a panel discussion, chaired by Lord Gus O'Donnell and also including David Rossington, Bronwyn Curtis and Peter Kellner. This sparked a lively and interesting debate across the panel and audience and we are sure the discussion will continue to move forward. Lord Gus O'Donnell summarised the spirit of the evening, in stating "I feel my best when I'm volunteering and contributing back to society using economics".

As the year comes to an end, we would like to thank our expert volunteers who have recently completed projects to help charities measure and improve their impact and value. Thanks go to Munazzah Naeem, Stephen Gibson, Emily Hutchinson, George Agathangelou, Nathalie Larsen, Leanne Stickland, Andrew Barnard, Justin Seth, Ravi Sharma, Andrew Carey, Amy Regan, Gotz Kunze, Sanjay Raja, Ann Waters, Paul Downward, Carolynne Mason, Ogniana Hristova, Victoria Sedgwick, Federico Bruni, Robert Marks. Stuart Newman and Vyara Ruseva who have worked on projects for City Year, MAC-UK, YCT Support, Making the Leap, PSHE Association, The Trussell Trust, Nova New Opportunities, Greenhouse Sports, Citizenship Foundation and Power to Change.

Project updates

Power to Change

We have recently published our report for Power to Change, providing a framework for the implementation of community asset transfers (CATs), which help community businesses and local authorities to take control of their future. With an ongoing three-year partnership with the organisation, we are pleased to provide support to their grantees and look forward to continuing our work with them.

Nova New Opportunities

With an aim to change society through improving lives one person at a time, Nova New Opportunities approached Pro Bono Economics for help developing their monitoring and evaluation strategy by creating a Theory of Change. This maps out the relationship between Nova's activities and the impacts on beneficiaries. The report also offers a review of existing data and data collection advice.

PSHE Association

PSHE Association is both a charity and membership association, representing PSHE teachers and offering them support through guidance, training and resources. They approached Pro Bono Economics to

SubscribePast IssuesTranslate ▼

Education

narrowed to three separate aspects of PSHE's impact: behaviour, attainment and attendance

Mental Health

MAC-UK

Innovative charity MAC-UK, which improves the accessibility of mental health services for vulnerable young people through a youth-led approach, approached PBE to discover the economic benefits of their Music & Change project. We provided analysis of the available monetary and activity data of the programme.

Copyright © 2017 fiona.ramsay@probonoeconomics.com, All rights reserved.

Want to change how you receive these emails?

You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list

